GLOBAL DIALOGUE LAB SOUTH AFRICA

Join a global network of educators equipped to lead dialogue spaces with clarity, courage & confidence

Seeds of Peace, in partnership with the African Leadership Academy, will convene a dynamic cohort of 65 educators from Africa, the Middle East, South Asia, the United States, and the United Kingdom at the Global Dialogue Lab.

The eight-day in person program is designed for educators ready to actively build and practice the skills needed to lead dialogue in their schools—facilitating difficult conversations, navigating differences, and fostering inclusive, student-centered learning environments where every voice is valued.

At a time when young people are navigating increasing division, complexity, and rapid change, the Global Dialogue Lab equips educators not just to respond—but to lead—with clarity, courage, and confidence.

WHAT YOU WILL DO

Through an immersive, hands-on experience, educators will deepen their facilitation and dialogue skills; design context-responsive strategies for their schools; and apply practical tools for inclusion and conflict transformation.

They will also learn to extend this work beyond their classrooms—engaging peers and leaders, and building sustained cross-border partnerships rooted in shared learning and engaging across cultures.

WHO THIS IS FOR

- » Educators who are currently working with students (ages 14–17 preferred) in a school or other learning environment
- » Who have a minimum of 2–3 years of experience in teaching or student leadership
- » Who have regular, direct access to students to apply dialogical framework & practices post-program

AFTER THE LAB

Participants will continue with monthly virtual sessions focused on:

- » Peer coaching
- » Troubleshooting implementation challenges
- » Ongoing collaboration
- » Continued skill-building
